Unpacking Rhetoric: Dramaturgy of the Senses

Tools for Unpacking Rhetoric

Given Circumstances:

- The Event (What, where, when, who, why, etc.)
- The Medium (speech, ad, video, song, poster, etc.)
- The Dramaturgy (Visual, Linguistic, Aural, Tactile, Scentual)

Relationship:

- Who is the audience?
- What is the relation between the rhetorician and the audience?
- What tactics might be useful for this specific audience?

Stakes:

- Why is this important?
- What happens if they do not succeed?

Tactics:

- How are they persuading their audience?
- What language/sounds/visuals are they using?
- How do their choices impact the emotional appeal of their argument?

NOW IT IS YOUR TURN!

Bring the Pericles Funeral Oration into the modern age. Either alone or in groups, unpack the given circumstances for Pericles (enemies at the gate, a country torn by war, loss of food, loss of hope, loss of morale, etc). If you were in a similar situation, how would you convince your audience? Which of these given circumstances has the highest stakes? How do you make the people think/do/consider/etc what you want? What medium would be the most impactful for your chosen audience? How do you use that medium to its greatest effect and/or affect?

You will pitch your idea to the class on Tuesday!
